A rebuttal of Wordsworth

Sweet is the lore which nature brings; Our meddling intellect Mis-shapes the beauteous forms of things; —We murder to dissect.

'Tis nature's lore that intellect Doth strive to comprehend: To find its patterns doth direct, Not seek its form to bend.

> Enough of science and of art; Close up these barren leaves; Come forth, and bring with you a heart That watches and receives.

A heart that watches and receives Is scientist's, artist's aim Thus only can its "barren" leaves The truth of beauty claim.

> Reuben Thomas 12th January 1999