

Last One Up

I waited quietly and watched
While all around they drank;
I sat and smiled and nodded as
They effortlessly sank:
So no-one saw them die but me,
Because they were too drunk to see.

I waved goodbye and headed home;
They sucked on at the fading foam.

Reuben Thomas

Friday 8th February 2003